

Departmental Seminar

Seeking an academic career in China: Some thoughts and tips

Prof. Fang HUANG

Shanghai International Studies University

ABSTRACT

In this talk I will introduce my professional development as a teacher and an academic scholar in Chinese universities. Some understandings and reflections from academic scholars in Chinese universities will be shared regarding their academic career seeking and development in the mainland universities. Hopefully these will shed light on the professional development of emerging scholars.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Fang Huang is a full professor in School of Education at Shanghai International Studies University. She has published more than 30 research articles in SSCI-indexed journals, including Computers & Education, Computer Assisted Language Learning, System, Educational Technology Research & Development, Interactive Learning Environments, British Journal of Educational Technology and so on. Previously she worked as a Mandarin teacher in School of Education at the University of Maryland. After the Ph.D. study at the University of Macau, she was pointed as a professor, Dean of English Education Department, Director of Foreign Languages Education Research Center, and Director of TESOL master program in School of Foreign Languages at the Qingdao University.

ALL ARE WELCOME

Date:
4 June 2024 (Tuesday)

Time:
2:00pm - 3:30pm

Venue:
Room G2, G/F,
Ho Tim Building, CUHK

Language:
English

Target: All academic staff and postgraduate students in Faculty of Education

Online Registration:
<https://cloud.itsc.cuhk.edu.hk/webform/view.php?id=13688776>

Registration Deadline: 2 June 2024

Enquiry:
Tel: 3943 6213